Janjatiya Gaurav Diwas 2025 Celebrated at ICAR–NBAIR, Bengaluru

15 November 2025, Bengaluru

ICAR–National Bureau of Agricultural Insect Resources, Bengaluru, celebrated Janjatiya Gaurav Diwas 2025 at its Hebbal campus, marking the concluding day of the Janjatiya Gaurav Varsh Pakhwada and commemorating the 150th birth anniversary of the revered freedom fighter Bhagwan Birsa Munda.

Chief Guest Dr. S. N. Sushil, Director, ICAR–NBAIR, addressed the gathering and highlighted the significance and origins of the Janjatiya Gaurav Varsh Pakhwada. He emphasised the vital role of tribal farming communities in realising the vision of Viksit Bharat through sustainable agricultural practices. Dr. Sushil underlined the importance of biological control agents in promoting organic and natural farming systems aimed at producing residue-free agricultural commodities. He also urged the preservation and celebration of tribal cultural heritage as a key pillar of socio-economic development.

Experts from ICAR–NBAIR briefed the farmers on the institute's contributions to nation-building through advanced pest and disease management technologies. They encouraged the adoption of eco-friendly approaches in organic and natural farming, which enhance crop productivity while safeguarding environmental health.
